SOUTH BEND, Ind., March 27.—(P)—Basil Banghart, a gunman of the Detroit "Purple" gang, who led a spectacular break from the Atlanta federal prison on January 25, 1927, wounded a guard, temporarily blinded another and shot his way out of St. Joseph's county jail here today.

An associate of Harry Fleischer, sought in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping, Banghart twice was a fugitive from the Atlanta penitentiary.

Banghart stole down the stairs from his second-floor lockup today while Jailer Stanley Klossinski was holding roll call for 30 other prisoners. As he reached the first floor, the gunman met Edward Wroblewski, another guard.

A handful of red pepper thrown in his eyes halted Wroblewski's attempt to overpower the fugitive. Banghart then ran to the jail office, smashed open a gun rack and snatched out a submachine gun.

Jailer Klossinski heard the noise and started down from the second floor, a pistol in his hand. He was greeted with a burst from the machine gun and fell with four wounds in the left arm. His condition was reported critical tonight.

Banghart intimidated several other guards and trustees, fled on foot, commandeered a taxicab, and forced its driver to take him to Mishawaka, six miles away.

He was arrested in Detroit last January 13 in a raid on what police said they believed was the headquarters for the "Purple" gang.

Police were seeking Fleischer in the Detroit raid in which Banghart was arrested. Recently, Fleischer has been sought in connection with the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Banghart was scheduled to go on trial tomorrow in connection with two robberies here on February 9.

Police of Indiana, Michigan and of Chicago were asked to note the look-out for the escaped gunman. Authorities said they believed he would attempt to reach either Chicago or Detroit. No trace of him was found after he left the taxicab in Mishawaka.

BANGHART "LELAND HARVEY," WARDEN ADERHOLT SAYS

Basil Banghart, Detroit gangster who shot his way out of jail at South Bend, Ind., Sunday, was what might be termed the "Leland Harvey" of the federal prison. Warden A. C. Aderholt of the prison here revealed Sunday night.

On the night of January 25, 1927, Banghart led four fellow prisoners in one of the most sensational breaks ever attempted here. The five prisoners sawed their way through a cell window and ran across a well illuminated lawn.

They were spotted by guards in a tower but failed to heed a command to halt. As the guards rained bullets on them, Banghart and the other four made good their break. One of the five was wounded by the guards and another was recaptured before he got over the wall.

Banghart was recaptured at Indianapolis and returned here to complete his sentence, Warden Aderholt said. Later he was arrested by federal agents in Philadelphia and made successful dash from the courtroom while his lawyers were pleading his case to a jury. He was captured again and served out a second sentence. He completed the second sentence last year, Warden Aderholt said.

Six Persons Killed In Southern Wrecks

Six persons were reported killed in accidents in the south this week-end, all of them in automobile mishaps.

At New Orleans J. T. Donnelly, 84, and R. N. Talmadge, 31, burned to death when their automobile caught fire after a collision with another.

James Norton, 9, was struck and killed by an automobile in Atlanta. Another automobile struck Robert Lee Shaver, 55, near Phenix City, Ala. He died in a Columbus (Ga.) hospital.

Arthur Smith, of Winchester, Va., was killed by a hit-and-run driver. Will Shaw, 4, a negro, was killed by an automobile at Greenwood, S. C.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 27.—(P)—Luther J. Williams, choir director of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension, suffered an internal hemorrhage and collapsed in the choir this morning just after the pastor, Dr. C. A. Linn, had begun the Easter sermon on "The Resurrection."

Mr. Williams was taken in an ambulance to the Oglethorpe sanitarium, where several of his friends volunteered for blood transfusions. Hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Williams has been choir director of the Savannah Opera Association for the past two years.

Seven Members of Committee Will Gather at Piedmont; 410 Delegates To Be Picked.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's 410 delegates to the state democratic convention in Atlanta April 6 will be named today by seven members of a committee selected by the Georgia-New Yorker, who probably will be the next president of the United States.

Among the delegates to Macon will be the presidents of the more than 130 Roosevelt-for-President clubs, which were organized prior to the primary last Wednesday.

Members of the committee appointed by Governor Roosevelt are W. E. Page, of Columbus, chairman; Thomas J. Hamilton, of Augusta; John I. Keady, of Lawrenceville; Charles J. Bloch, of Macon; Dr. R. B. Gilbert, of Greenville; Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, of Atlanta; and Mrs. Nora Lawrence Smith, of Ashburn.

The committee meeting will be held at 10 o'clock this morning at Roosevelt headquarters in the Piedmont.

As convention votes are on the basis of two delegates for every member of the house of representatives, 410 delegates will be picked.

Members of the committee will have four delegates each, and eight will have six delegates each, all others having two delegates each. Governor Roosevelt has been elected as a delegate in the primary over Judge G. H. Howard, who was a proxy for Speaker Garner, of Texas.

IOWA DEMOCRATS PLAN CONVENTION TUESDAY

DAVENPORT, Iowa, March 27.—(P)—Whether Iowa democrats will hold a national convention appears the major question confronting the state convention here Tuesday.

Among the early arrivals here today for the conference preliminary to the convention were supporters of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, and W. H. Murray, of Oklahoma, both candidates for the party's presidential nomination.

Although members of the state central committee have expressed the belief that Iowa democrats favored the New Yorker, it is not expected that a committee would lead a movement to instruct the delegation for him.

Roosevelt leaders claim some 700 of the 1,800 state delegates would support the New Yorker. James A. Farley of New York, national contact man for Roosevelt, was due to arrive tomorrow.

J. A. Stephens, of Des Moines, state manager for Murray, said he believed the convention would avoid a contest on the question of instruction in order to guarantee harmony. He claimed many Murray supporters among the delegates.

A number of the county delegations, however, will be bound by the unit rule, delegation voting on the basis of a majority sentiment.

Prohibition and unemployment are expected to find mention in the resolution to be adopted by the convention. Some of the county caucuses advised submission of the prohibition question to a referendum while others stowing his attentions upon the then Mrs. Smith by calling upon her at their home, visiting her and carrying her to various places and bestowing gifts upon her. He charged further that he had requested McMillan to leave his wife alone.

The suit sets out that Mrs. Smith has two children, Tommie and Jerry Smith, 16 and 18 years of age, and that through the efforts of McMillan to alienate her affections from her children were neglected and not cared for.

The suit pleads for two sums—$25,000 as the main damage to the plaintiff through the defendant's behavior and $5,000 punitive damages for the loss of the petitioner's wife and the duties she filled in her household capacity.

The suit was filed by Robert Carpenter, of Carpenter & Ellis, Atlanta attorneys.

Strained Situation Develops in Democratic Leadership as House Seeks Agreement on Revenue.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(P)—A disrupted house continued today to cast about in its efforts to find new sources of revenue while a strained situation developed in the democratic leadership.

A ways and means subcommittee struggled through Easter Sunday with the problem of finding substitutes for the defeated $500,000,000 sales tax plan. Its chairman, Representative Ragon, democrat, Arkansas, said he expected to be able to submit a substitute plan to the full group Tuesday morning before the budget-balancing measure again comes before the house.

Close friends of Speaker Garner have insisted that he take a firm hand in the writing of the tax bill. They have indicated, however, that the Texas democrat expects the revolt in the house to run its course within a few more days and predicted that then his influence to put a bill through that branch to balance the budget will be exerted. There is considerable dissatisfaction among the leaders as to the method in which the measure has been handled.

Republican Ready.
Representative Snell, of New York, the republican leader, declared a majority of the minority still was willing to support the democrats in passing a just and equitable billion-dollar bill on a non-partisan basis. However, since so many democrats turned against their leaders in the sales tax

Mob of 1,500 Threatens Quartet After Slaying of Two Policemen.

LAKELAND, Fla., March 27.—(P)—National guard troops, with mated machine guns, watch over the city jail here late tonight after a mob estimated at 1,500 had threatened four prisoners held in connection with the slaying of two policemen this afternoon.

Troops of Lakeland, Winter Haven and Plant City were ordered out by Governor Doyle E. Carlton on the request of Sheriff James A. Johnson of Bartow. One hundred and twenty-five guardsmen were on duty.

The four prisoners, Perry Acree, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Acree, and J. E. Johnston, were placed in jail after Policemen T. A. Nicholson, 38, and W. T. Barnett, 47, were shot to death at Sam Acree's home.

The officers went there in response to a report that there were disorders at the Acree home.

Johnston said he shot Nicholson as the officer scuffled with Perry Acree and Perry's mother, who was trying to prevent an arrest of her son.

Johnston declared he dropped the pistol and did not know who killed Barnett. Both policemen were slain with the same gun, officers believed.

Shortly after three officers brought the quartet to city jail, several hundred persons, including many women and children, gathered there.

Cries of "Lynch them, lynch them" were heard. About 150 men stormed the wire fence of the jail yard and rushed inside.

Mayor Ben M. Pulliam, Judge S. L. Holland, of Bartow, and several city leaders made speeches to the mob. Their talks had a quieting effect.

The sheriff himself took personal charge of the situation until the guardsmen arrived.

Mr. Curtis, returning Sunday from a mysterious airplane trip, believed made for the purpose of contacting the kidnappers or their "go-betweens," expressed belief that the Lindbergh baby would be returned safely this week. Police are seeking Fleischer, who was declared to have been identified as aboard a yacht upon which a baby was heard to cry.

BY FRANK E. TAYLOR.
NORFOLK, Va., March 27.—(P)—John H. Curtis announced tonight that Norfolk intervenors seeking to recover the Lindbergh baby believe their negotiations are in their "semi-final stage," and will see Colonel Lindbergh personally tomorrow.

The announcement was made upon Mr. Curtis' return from a mysterious airplane trip for the purpose of meeting the child's abductors or "go-betweens."

In making his statement to a conference of newspapermen late tonight, Mr. Curtis did not disclose where he would meet Colonel Lindbergh, or what information he would take to the father.

"We will see Colonel Lindbergh personally tomorrow," he asserted in reply to questions. "That is all I can say tonight."

In answer to the question as to where the meeting would take place, he said:

"If you know the plans we are working on, you could see behind the scenes."

Previously Curtis had said he was much encouraged over the results of the negotiations, but declined to say where he had been or what had been done.

PINEVILLE, Ky., March 27.—(P)—Four more eastern students, two of them women, were escorted from Pineville today after interviewing County Attorney Walter B. Smith and having Bell county's mine problems explained to them by a group of citizens led by Cleon K. Calvert, Pineville attorney.

The students were Mrs. Eleanor Curtis Henderson, who said she preferred to be known as Eleanor Curtis, of Columbia University; Miss Margaret Bailey, of New York University; Willard Spence, of Union Theological Seminary, New York; and Herbert Ellis, of Harvard.

They came here from Knoxville, Tenn., to demand from Smith an explanation for the ejection from Bell county of two bus loads of students Friday and Saturday.

Eleanor Curtis, as spokesmen charged the students were turned back by an "unlawful mob." Smith denied this and said those who turned them back were "my officers and a group of representative Bell county citizens."

After being told by Smith, they could not remain in the county because, he said, he had evidence they were connected with the communist party, the four students said they would go to Frankfort, the state capital, to protest to Governor Ruby Laffoon.

Calvert asked a group of citizens who had gathered in Smith's office to bring the four students to his office, where they were lectured for almost one hour on coal field conditions.

TOKYO, March 28.—(Monday.)—(P)—The foreign office received information today from an undisclosed source that soviet military authorities were digging trenches on the Siberian border in the neighborhood of Pogranichnaya.

TOKYO, March 28.—(Monday.)—(P)—It was learned on good authority today that Japan has decided to refuse to give the League of Nations a statement of her case in the Sino-Japanese dispute—a decision which eventually may lead to Japanese withdrawal from the League.

This decision of the government means that Japan will decline to give Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the League, statements called for under Paragraph 2 of Article XV of the League covenant.

Well-informed quarters believed this was the first step in a series of Japanese refusals to participate in the League's effort to apply Article XV to the Manchurian incident.

This decision also confirmed an Associated Press dispatch of February 6 in which it was stated that Japan would resist application of Article XV, even to the extent of withdrawing from the League, and that Japan would decline to submit a statement of her case.

Article XV, Paragraph 1, provides that if a dispute between members is not submitted to arbitration or judicial settlement under Article XIII, any member in the dispute may submit.

By the Associated Press.
The eyes of Christianity for for a 12-month have looked upon international dissension, economic tribulation, crime, strife and political bitterness, were raised aloft yesterday to a promise of happier events, as symbolized by the resurrection of the Redeemer.

Jerusalem presented a picture of Sabbath-day calm as thousands of pilgrims joined with their native Christians in a colorful Easter celebration.

This was in contrast with the tense situation of last year when the rites were conducted under the protection of British machine guns because of reaction between Moslems and Christians.

Long before dawn the city which witnessed the passion and triumph of Christ was alive for the sacred occasion, which coincided with the Jewish Passover and an important Mohammedan feast.

Belts from Rome's 400 churches rang out joyfully as choirs flooded the city with "Alleluia." Cardinal Pacelli, high priest, conducted the service in the basilica of St. Peter's, largest church of Christendom.

The procession of the three Marys—the Virgin, Magdalene and the mother of James—to the tomb of Christ climaxed the exercises.

Strong detachments of troops were on guard in Ireland, but there was no violence. Police and army leaders of the country called upon the citizens, however, to break completely with Great Britain as the uprising of 1916 was commemorated and homage paid to those who lost their lives.

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," was the message of the day.

Buchanan Storm Spares
Easter Egg Hunters

A tornado today had no respect for Easter egg hunting but spared the hunters.

Twenty persons had gathered at the farm home of T. W. Golden, who resides near Buchanan in west Georgia, to search for bright-colored eggs.

Suddenly a twister approached, roared nearer and destroyed the house but harmed no one of the occupants.

Neen by in another farm house lived Mandy White, just a year short of a century old and her son, 70. Their home, too, was smashed into debris but they were not hurt.

Two Points Along Ala-

Tornadoes, hail and rain came to Georgia out of Alabama Sunday, leaving one woman dying, scores injured and thousands of dollars in property damage.

Twisters entered the state at two points along the Alabama border. Buchanan, in Haralson county, and Corinth, in Howard county, destroying homes, breaking down communications and laying waste to forest lands.

Mrs. Harvey Lewis was so severely injured when a tornado struck in the Fellowship Church and Pine Woods sections of Haralson county that she was reported dying by Dr. E. F. Sanford, a physician, as she was being moved to a hospital.

The funnel-shaped twister ripped a path of about a half mile in width from two miles south of Buchanan northward for 10 miles, bringing devastation in that area.

Between 25 and 30 homes were destroyed in Haralson county and the number of injured was reported at 20.

Among those most seriously hurt were Harvey Lewis, husband of the dying woman; Mrs. Lewis, 75, and Grace and Arthur Lewis, children of Harvey Lewis and his wife, Henry Cook and Manse Ware, the latter a negro, were also hurt when the tornado struck near the Lewis home, 7 miles northeast of Buchanan.

On the Rice Davis farm, 5 miles east of Buchanan, seven or eight houses were wrecked and a negro cook suffered a broken leg and several others suffered minor hurts.

Twenty persons, gathered for an Easter egg hunt, were in the home of T. W. Golden, 7 miles east of Buchanan, when the tornado destroyed the house. None were injured.

Manse Ware, 70, and his son, 70, both escaped injury when the home of W. H. White, several miles east of Buchanan, was also twisted into debris.

At the tornado moved northeastward from Buchanan it struck into a heavy property damage resulted here Sunday from 15 alarms answered by the fire department. Several homes and garages were destroyed by flames, according to reports.

The residence, garage and car of E. F. Herndon, of 311 Lawton street, were destroyed and the garage of N. J. McKennan, of 315 Lawton, which caught from the neighboring fire, was considerably damaged at 3:25 o'clock Sunday morning, it was said.

When the family of David Dunlap, of 1220 Burlington road, near Decatur, returned from Sunday night Easter services they found the home in ashes. In their absence, fire swept through the one-story frame dwelling before the fire department could be reached. The Decatur fire department was unable to combat the blaze because of a city ordinance which prohibits the department from leaving the city. A company from the Atlanta department later was called, but arrived too late.

As Near-Gale Visits Atlanta

Buffeting the city from the west, winds approaching gale force from the storm which caused loss of life in Alabama Sunday night played havoc on Atlanta, shattering windows, uprooting trees and toppling chimneys, and causing a large number of minor accidents.

The United States weather bureau at Candler field reported that the velocity reached as high as 40 miles an hour, but that the prevailing speed was 25 to 30 miles. The wind swirled from west southwest to west northwest, and will be from the north west by this morning, the weather bureau said. The storm, moving to the northeast, was reported central over western Virginia at 9:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Special services in the churches drew large numbers of Atlantans who later joined in the annual Easter service at the city hall.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 27.—(P)—More tornadoes took six in Alabama late today and their diminished fury on Georgia run the known death toll from storm in the south to 365 in less than week.

Last Monday twisters skipped about in Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, South Carolina and Kentucky to add known fatalities to 359. More than 2,500 were injured, approximately 7,000 made homeless and property loss of nearly $5,000,000 resulted from this series of storms.

A great black funnel-shaped cloud with its swirling, devastating power today dipped into central Alabama to kill four persons at Lawley and two at Pleasant Grove.

At Pleasant Grove—

No Deaths in Georgia.
No deaths were reported in Georgia, but reports indicated a large number of injured and a great loss of live stock and property. One woman, Mrs. Harvey Hicks, of near Buchanan, in western Georgia, was said by a physician to be perhaps fatally injured, and was being taken to a hospital.

The twisting winds struck into Georgia from Alabama at two points, Buchanan and Corinth, a small community, one county south of Buchanan. While houses were bowled over in scattered areas in the paths of the twisters after they crossed the Georgia line, they appeared to have diminished in force, finally bringing hail and torrential rains to a great portion of the state.

The path of the storm in Alabama followed closely that of last week's tornadoes and the fatalities in that state were in communities where deaths occurred at that time.

As the gale-like wind rushed northward people residing in Cartermansville and Athens, relief points for the victims of last Monday's death-dealing storms, became alarmed and bombarded.

DANIEL C. ROPER LAUDS ROOSEVELT

South Carolina Leader Urges First Ballot Nomination of New Yorker.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—Another outstanding southern nationalist in the Roosevelt ranks today when Daniel C. Roper, of South Carolina, issued a statement praising the New York governor's abilities and declaring that the people of the nation are looking to him "to lead them out of the wilderness of depression."

Mr. Roper was an assistant postmaster-general and war-time commissioner of internal revenue under Woodrow Wilson and is one of the Gamecock state's best-known citizens.

Mr. Roper's statement follows: "I have been a personal friend of Governor Roosevelt for 20 years and his progressiveness and executive capacity have always appealed to me. He showed himself as having a national and international mind in his effective co-operation with Woodrow Wilson. The need for broadminded statesmanship was never more important than today."

"I am amazed at his physical endurance and accuracy of judgment. The executive duties of a governor of the Empire state are always heavy and exacting, but certainly no governor of New York has had more difficult and exacting problems to solve than Governor Roosevelt during the last two years of economic chaos and unemployment."

"The situation in his state with constructive suggestions and ends this session of the legislature most serious in health. I have never seen him in better general health than I find him today, physically strong, mentally alert, keen in his comprehension of our national conditions and ready with definite programs for relief of our masses and for economic rehabilitation."

"It is no surprise, therefore, that he should appeal strongly to the people generally throughout the nation. They look to him to lead them out of the wilderness of depression. His record in the state, city, town and country in Georgia, New Hampshire and North Carolina is significant of this fact. A very large percentage of democrats throughout this country have determined never to perpetrate upon the party another 1924 Madison Square Garden event. The way to safeguard against this is to nominate Governor Roosevelt on the first ballot at Chicago next June. This action will guarantee, in my opinion, success for the party in November. Any other course means defeat in November."

"The country is looking solely to the democratic party for relief this year from its economic distress and let us not disappoint them by taking any chances against success. The democratic party has been ineffective and able to consolidate its forces on economic issues. Under Roosevelt's leadership this, emphatically will be a democratic year."

BOY VICTIM OF AUTO TO BE BURIED TODAY
Final rites will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church of East Point for James Henry Norton, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Mina Norton, of 213 Center street, East Point, who was fatally injured Saturday by an automobile in front of his home.

Dr. W. A. Duncan, pastor of the First Baptist church, and the Rev. M. D. Collins, of Fairburn, will conduct the services, and interment will be in the College Park cemetery.

J. M. Hudson, of 212 Center street, neighbor and friend of the Norton family, wrecked his car against a tree in an effort to avoid striking the boy. A case of reckless driving, which was later changed to disorderly conduct, was made against him by East Point police.

Democratic Leaders Worried Over Party Revolt in House

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, March 27.—In the face of the most brilliant prospects for capturing the presidency the party has witnessed in years, democratic leaders in congress show outward concern over the unruly manner in which the rank and file of democratic representation in the house has failed to respond to party leadership.

After functioning smoothly during the first three months of the session the democratic majority in the lower body has become unmanageable. The combined efforts of Speaker Garner, Majority Leader Rainey and Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Georgia, acting chairman of the powerful ways and means committee who constitute the present democratic triumvirate in the house have been inadequate to hold down the insurgency which threatens the pending $1,000,000,000 tax bill.

Despite the warning by Majority Leader Rainey and Acting Chairman Crisp that unless the federal budget is balanced through the passage of the bill there is grave danger of all the economic rehabilitation measures adopted by congress going to naught, house democrats continue on the rampage of independent action, refusing to accept the recommendations of the committee in considering the revenue bill.

Of the revolt, the current insurgency came, of course, when a sufficient number of party representatives joined the republicans of the same viewpoint and defeated the sales tax provision of the bill over the protest of majority leaders. A total of some $500,000,000 was lopped off the bill without any provision being made for obtaining the necessary revenue from another source.

"While obstreperous republican members share the responsibility equally with the democrats for overthrowing the committee, democratic leaders realize that their party will be charged with the failure in the coming national campaign because of the organization control which democrats now hold in the house. Representative Snell, of New York, the republican leader, has said that the party is responsible for the failure of the democratic tax bill, but the responsibility of putting it through does not attach so much to his party as to the democrats.

The danger of the situation, as party leaders here see it, is that the republicans will be able to go before the country during the ensuing campaign months and point to democratic failure in the consideration of one of the most important, if not the most important, legislative proposal controlled by the democratic controlled house.

Instead of following their own leaders there has been a willingness on the part of too many democrats to cast their lot with the brand of insurgency led by Representative LaGuardia, republican and sometime socialist, who has taken the lead in the demonstration to force political considerations and assume responsibility for the adoption of controversial sections of the revenue bill.

As the member of the democratic triumvirate in charge of the tax bill on the floor, Representative Crisp has pleaded again and again for his party associates to forget political considerations and assume responsibility for the adoption of controversial sections of the revenue bill.

He has taken his setbacks with good humor, reiterating his desire not to criticize any member for any vote. He has urged the members to forget political considerations and assume responsibility for the adoption of controversial sections of the revenue bill.

IRISH REPUBLICANS DENOUNCE BRITAIN

Easter Day Demonstration Aimed at Oath of Allegiance to King.
BY EDWARD STANLEY.
DUBLIN, March 27.—(P)—The strength of Irish republicanism was demonstrated today by meetings and processions in commemoration of the Easter uprising of 1916 throughout the length and breadth of Ireland.

Members of the Irish republican army and other technically illegal organizations denounced Great Britain from a hundred platforms. They informed Eamon De Valera, new president of the Irish Free State, either directly or by implication that they were abolishing the oath of allegiance to the British king would not satisfy their demand for complete severance from England and the British empire.

Those who took part in the demonstrations were unarmed and no disorders were reported. The regular uniformed army of the Free State was confined to barracks. The men of the Irish republican army marched silently with set faces and very much on their best behavior in a great number of demonstrations.

CROSS SECTIONS OF LIFE In Gate City of South
Condition of Dr. R. B. Callahan, widely known East Point dentist, who was seriously injured Saturday when his car was struck by a Central of Georgia train at the Bryan avenue crossing, was improving Sunday at the Piedmont hospital, according to reports.

Dr. Callahan was resting easily and had had a good day, it was said. He received cuts and lacerations and several fractured ribs.

P. A. Clay, of 126 Georgia avenue, S. W., was robbed of $17 in cash early Sunday morning in front of his residence by a Negro man, he reported to police. William Mapp, a negro man, was arrested on suspicion.

fight and left the republicans who voted for it in somewhat of an embarrassing position. Snell indicated he felt the majority should get together before it can expect wholehearted support of his party.

That the democratic leadership will at least have an understanding on its future tax plans is certain. Spokesmen for the party's insurgents, Representative Doughton, democrat, North Carolina, and Rankin, democrat, Mississippi, said they would go along with the majority in the conference. This will be the logical time for the Texas to dictate what form the legislation shall take to carry out his desire to balance the budget. After it comes from the conference no amendments are permitted.

Postage Increase.
The Region committee is expected to recommend an increase from 2 to 3 cents in first-class postage to yield about $150,000,000; levies on automobiles, trucks and accessories to produce about $100,000,000; an increase in one-sixth in the present tax on tobacco to yield $58,000,000; a 1-cent-a-gallon tax on gasoline, $155,000,000; and a 1-cent-a-gallon tax on electricity, mechanical refrigerators and various stamp taxes to make up the difference.

With the amendments inserted on income, surtax and estate taxes, and the excise levies on imported and domestic lubricating oil, wort, malt, sugar and the remaining provisions in the bill it is estimated by the drafters that a little more than $500,000,000 is in sight.

Ex-Treasury Chief Reported Near Death

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(P)—Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury under President Roosevelt, sank rapidly tonight with little hope held for his recovery after nearly a month's illness of double pneumonia. The former Iowa governor and cabinet member suffered an attack of cold, developing into pneumonia, following his return from a business trip to New York several weeks ago. He is 84 years old.

JOB GAINS IN MARCH FAIL TO MATERIALIZE

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(P)—The usual spring gain in employment during March was said today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, to have failed of materialization so far. Estimating there are 8,000,000 out of work, Green stated only about 300,000 had returned to work during March, compared to 500,000 who had found employment during the month last year. During March this year, only about 150,000 had found employment on farms, he said, when usually

Menuhin Climbs Stone Mountain, 'Gets in Shape' for Recital Tonight

Yehudi Menuhin, the boy genius of the violin, saw nearly all of Atlanta and most of its suburbs Sunday, getting in a full day of life in the open air before his recital at the auditorium tonight.

The 15-year-old prodigy and his father, Moshe Menuhin, declined several offers of limousines and chauffeurs and rented a drive-it-yourself open car for the day. They not only visited Stone Mountain but climbed to its summit, and the boy was enthusiastic over the beginnings of the great memorial.

"It must be finished," he said Sunday night. "It is too great a conception to be left in its present state."

Jack Salter, of the New York concert management firm of Evans & Salter, arrived Sunday afternoon to attend Yehudi's recital. He is a former Seven persons were injured in three automobile collisions in the city early Sunday morning, according to police and hospital reports.

O. R. Coggins, of 990 Greenwood avenue, and his brother, O. T. Coggins, of 191 Deane street, were badly hurt when their car collided with another driven by Jeffe Bloodworth, of 594 Luckie street, at the intersection of Boulevard and Edgewood avenue at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning, according to police reports. The brothers were carried to the Atlanta hospital, where they were admitted for observation and treatment. Bloodworth was treated at Grady hospital.

According to police, the Coggins car crashed into a white light after striking Bloodworth's machine and then caught fire. The brothers were removed from the flaming automobile before being seriously burned, it was said.

O. R. Coggins, the driver, received a possible concussion of the brain and probable spinal injuries. His brother and Bloodworth both sustained severe cuts and bruises. Cases of reckless driving were made against both drivers by police.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Curtis, of 1147 Orange circle, were the victims of a hit-and-run negro motorcyclist at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, according to police records. Curtis reported that a negro man and a negro woman, riding on a motorbike, crashed into his car at Auburn avenue and Courtland street, causing his car to wreck.

Mrs. Curtis was slightly injured and her husband was bruised. Cases of reckless driving were made against E. R. Overstreet, of a downtown hotel, and E. N. Dollar, of 2284 Ringdale road, at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning following a crash in which their automobiles figured at Fairlie and Williams street, police records say.

Overstreet's machine overturned and was badly damaged, it was said. He was slightly injured and received treatment at Grady hospital for lacerations and bruises. Dollar was not hurt, it was said.

The automobile in which Oran P. Ward, of 1476 North Morningside drive, and his family were riding Sunday afternoon, was badly damaged when the high wind blew a poplar tree on it on Seventeenth street, between Peachtree road and Peachtree circle. The tree, undermined by rain, toppled over in the wind which was thought to be a part of the tornado which came through Georgia Sunday. None of the occupants was injured.

The recital will close the season of the All-Star Concert Series. The artists chosen for the next season will be announced at the auditorium tonight.

you have read about his playing," he said, "you just can't imagine it. I have seen audiences of thousands, in the greatest cities of Europe and America, stand up and cheer after this boy had finished a number. I have seen great musicians not readily overcome by emotion, actually weep as Yehudi played. He has been showered with honors and decorations. There has been nothing like him in generations."

The largest audience which has attended a recital in years is expected by Mr. Salter at the auditorium tonight. Music-lovers from hundreds of miles away have made reservations of blocks of seats, and the offer of half-price tickets for children under 15 has largely increased the demand. Tickets will be on sale at the Davison-Paxon store until 6 o'clock and after 7:30 o'clock at the auditorium box office.

Culbertson on Contract A Trick and a Half

BY ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

Disaster is certain at Contract if Opening bids are not sound. One's first duty, therefore, is to pass if one's honor strength is not up to standard. Otherwise a house may be built on sand, doomed to spectacular collapse.

But one's second duty—not inferior in importance to the first—is to show one's partner if a hand, not strong enough to bid on originally, has anything in it at all. The making of game may turn upon this intimation. For a game bid, combined hands (unless distribution is especially favorable) need 5-1-2 to 6 honor-tricks. Now quite often 4 to 4-2 honor-tricks are in one hand (insufficient for an initial forcing bid) and 1 to 1-2 honor-tricks in the other, but unless the weaker hand co-operates in the bidding, the fact that sufficient combined strength is available will never come to light.

It was to meet this familiar situation that the negative response of one no-trump was devised. This is one of the key ideas of the Forcing system. It is based on the principle that, where once a strong hand has been shown by partner, possible support, though as little as a trick and a half, must be made known. On a trick and a half (in honor strength) a Takeout into one no-trump can, at worst, do no harm. The strong minimum prescribed for an Opening suit bid insures this, and it may enable a second suit to be shown and the bidding continued with the result that game is eventually reached.

Here is a simple case in point from the first Anglo-American test match: East-West vulnerable.

North: 9 7 4 2
South: 10 8 6 5 3 2

At the table where England sat North and South, the bidding of this hand was as follows:

North East South West
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass

South thus played the hand in one spade, North, with his weak spades and indifferent hand, not thinking support worthwhile, and North-South, making 9 tricks, scored 120 points.

At our North-South table, however, the negative Takeout was used with great effect. Here the bidding went:

North East South West
Pass Pass 1♠ Pass
1NT Pass 2♣ Pass
4♥ Pass Pass

Let me explain the significance of the North-South bidding.

North: Pass. "I have less strength than 2-1-2 honor-tricks. I cannot, therefore, open the bidding."

South: "I have less strength than 2-1-2 honor-tricks. I cannot, therefore, open the bidding."

Expressing himself as fit and ready to "carry on" for the advancement of Atlanta and as a teacher of a Sunday school class, Mayor James L. Key, at the meeting of his Bible class at the Capitol theater Sunday morning, following his victory in a recall election several days ago, the mayor spent a week in Florida.

Mayor Key had announced that his subject would be "Social and Moral Aspects of the Recall Election," and he confined the first few minutes of his talk to a discussion of community affairs. He said the recall attempt had created up many things and enabled Atlanta "to set her house in order."

"Atlanta has an objective and we have the right to ask the people to carry on and those who draw the taxpayers' money and who fail to cooperate should step aside. There are hundreds of people who can do the work efficiently and who will co-operate."

The mayor explained that he was not vindictive and said that whatever course he follows will be for the best interests of the citizens.

WIDOW IS ACQUITTED OF CHILD POISONING

LEXINGTON, N. C., March 27.—(P)—Mrs. Lola Pendleton Pickett, 40-year-old widow, never believed during the four months she was held in jail here awaiting trial on a charge of poisoning her small daughter that she would be convicted.

"I knew God was on my side," she said shortly after a jury acquitted her of a charge of murder early today.

Mrs. Pickett went on trial last Wednesday. The state contended her daughter, Elizabeth, who died last September, was poisoned and accused Mrs. Pickett of administering the fatal poison.

A coroner's jury found that the death of another daughter, Virginia, 10, who died last May, was due to poison.

KILLS PAIN LONG

NEW ORLEANS, March 27.—(P)—A new "lingering" anesthetic, which continues to kill pain after an operation but has no habit-forming power, was reported to the American Chemical Society tonight.

A powerful salt from castor oil, which promises a new method of immunizing from diphtheria and tetanus, also was reported.

The society begins tomorrow a four-day meeting, with more than 1,000 scientists expected from all over the country. Several hundred reports will be made on recent advances in chemistry, ranging from medicine and biology to gasoline and sugar.

The new anesthetic is local, and is claimed to outdo both cocaine and novocaine. It is hydrochloride of piperidinopropionyl di-phenylurethane. For short, it is called dithane. It was reported in a paper issued by the society from Dr. T. H. Rider and E. W. Scott, of the William S. Merrell Company, Cincinnati.

VENUE CHANGE SOUGHT IN SCOTTSBORO CASES

NEW YORK, March 27.—(P)—A change of venue from Scottsboro, Ala., courts will be asked tomorrow in an attempt to secure release on bail of two of the nine negroes sentenced for attacks on two white girls, it was announced today by International Labor Defense lawyers.

The two are Roy Wright, 14, of Chattanooga, Tenn., whose original trial was declared a mistrial, and Eugene Williams, whose death sentence was reversed by the Alabama supreme court because he is a juvenile.

Executions of the other seven are set for May 13. Sentences are to be appealed to the United States supreme court, the lawyers said, and a mass campaign in their behalf will be carried on by sympathizers.

PARIS, March 27.—(P)—The ministry of agriculture reduced the amount of French-grown wheat required to be used in bread flour from 65 per cent to 60 per cent today.

The reduction of the native wheat requirements in today's decree added another 5 per cent to the amount of foreign wheat which may be used in mixing bread flour in France and made it 40 per cent.

Louisa Robert Tells of Winning National Title in Own Story PHILLIES PLAY BARON'S CLUB HERE TO DAY

LOUISA ROBERT GIVES ACCOUNT OF TITLE SWIM

Atlantan's Ambition Is to Beat Eleanor Holm; Returns Today.

Editor's Note—Miss Louisa Robert, sensational Atlanta amateur swimmer, who now holds the National Junior A. A. 100-yard backstroke championship, was delayed in returning from Indianapolis by inclement weather. She returns today. Following is her own story, written for The Constitution, telling of the event.

By Louisa Robert.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 27.—The race was very close at Indianapolis and I feel that I was lucky to win. I only hope that I can uphold my title as national junior amateur champion and do as well in the senior division in which I must compete henceforth.

My showing was due to the untiring efforts of my coach, Raymont Eaton, who trains me when he can spare time from his duties as southern representative of the Red Cross, and to the efforts of my mother, who is in me in my daily training. I am entering my second year of competitive swimming.

WELL, GIRLS?
I wish Atlanta could have a crowd of girls who are interested in swimming all the year round as they are in Indianapolis. Everybody with whom I came in contact showed great sportsmanship and treated me royally.

I arrived at Indianapolis Friday night after what seemed a wonderfully short trip by plane. However, the next day seemed longer than any I have ever spent. I could think of nothing but the meet that was to be held at 8 o'clock that night at the Indianapolis Athletic Club.

It was the shakiest feeling I have ever had because I had never been up against real competition, and I knew I would be swimming against junior champions Saturday.

I took a short workout in order to get acquainted with the pool. There were a great number of people there and each one discouraged me greatly. This did not ease my mind at all.

GAINS CONFIDENCE.
Just before my event I seemed to gain confidence and decided to do my best. I made travel by air, and I had heard of the strong field against which I was pitted.

And then I won and I was happy. When I returned to Atlanta tomorrow I shall continue my training in preparation for the Olympic tryouts in New York in the early spring. I hope to do as well in the tryouts as I did at Indianapolis and qualify for the Olympics. That is my goal.

Some day, too, I hope to beat Eleanor Holm, world backstroke champion.

Champion Returns To Welcome Here.
By Jack Troy.

Forced to stop over in Louisville, Ky., Sunday because of storm-wrecked planes, Miss Louisa Robert, 17-year-old swimming sensation of Atlanta, who Saturday night won the National Junior A. A. 100-yard backstroke championship at Indianapolis, Ind., will arrive at Candler field aboard a plane of the American Airways today if the weather is such as to permit flying.

In the event that it is impossible to make the return trip by plane, Miss Robert will not rest on her laurels when she returns here but will resume intensive training at the Athletic Club for the Olympic tryouts at New York in May. She competed under the colors of the A. A. C. in Indiana.

In winning the junior backstroke title Miss Robert is automatically barred from further competition in that division. In the future she must compete against senior swimmers. That is the ruling of the Amateur Athletic Union.

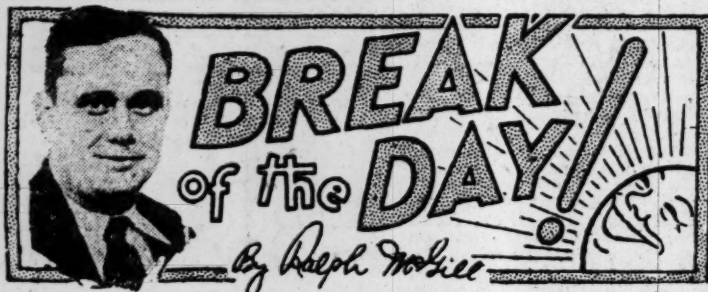

The competition will be harder, the going tougher. But Miss Robert is not worrying about competition of any kind just now. She is like the golfer—Bobby Jones, the best of them all, for example—who plays just for the fun of it.

CONSIDER MILKMAN.
Every day, except Tuesday, will find Miss Robert, a unique champion in that she has entered only three actual competitive swimming, cutting through the cool blue waters of the A. A. C. pool early in the morning, actually about the hour that the milkman dairymaid turns his weary mule or vehicle or whatever it is that milkmen are using to convey their liquid wares these days.

It takes a great deal of work to make a champion and as much or more to keep that champion fit for other competitions. There must be daily swims for wind and muscular action, practice on starts and turns and keeping in the "lane," which is not so easy in the backstroke as you may well imagine. A regular schedule of sleep must be observed.

But Miss Robert has all the requirements for mental makeup is ideal. And she takes her training seriously. She has all the physical strength necessary. She enjoys her sport.

It is always darkest just before the dawn according to one of the various Pollyanna crooners of a few years ago. And it must be true. Because when Bobby Jones retired from golf with all the championships in the field things took on a somber hue. And when Bryan Grant lost his national clay courts tennis title the situation looked even more dark.

When W. L. Stribling missed in his big try for the world's heavyweight ring title Georgia was as blue as the sea in a steamer ad.

Georgia missed in her bid for a national and conference football championship. The basketball team came back to win the conference title.

But Georgia, since the days of Bobby Jones and Alex Stirling, has been used to national titles. Anything else is more or less passe. Georgia Tech added a national football title in 1928.

But Georgia was struggling without a national title until Saturday evening when Miss Louisa Robert, an attractive young Atlanta girl, swam to the national junior 100-yard backstroke championship in Indianapolis.

And I don't know but that for sheer ability her accomplishment doesn't take front rank with the others. A swimming title is something new for Atlanta. And the amazing thing about it all is that Miss Robert won her championship after just four months of competition and in her first championship match.

She is the first girl to bring a title to Atlanta since Miss Alex Stirling brought one in golf years ago. And I hope that the Atlanta Athletic Club, whose colors she wore, will have a dinner for her or a dinner-dance, whatever it is they welcome feminine swimming champions with. Titles aren't new to the famous old club. But this is a new one.

L. W. (Chip) Robert, the young champion's father, is a bit excited about it all. He seemed to be slightly awed when he heard the news from The Constitution Saturday night.

For years now Chip Robert has been cheering Bobby Jones and other Georgia athletes and teams. And then suddenly, he had a national champion in his own family. Which was enough to confuse one.

PAUL WHITEHEAD CAUSES RUSH.
After that statement by Mr. Paul Whitehead, the bandmaster, I imagine that Mr. Joe Bean, at the Atlanta Athletic Club; and L. H. Cunningham, at the Y. M. C. A., had best be strengthening the levees about the banks of their swimming pools.

Because as soon as the men of comfortable figures (I like that word comfortable) have had time to digest the recent interview by Paul Whitehead their pools will likely be filled with men with comfortable figures.

Mr. Whitehead, it seems, reached the comfortable figure and a weight of 350 pounds. And then he started in to reduce. He did it by dieting and swimming. And the Jazz King said he meant swimming, not bathing. He pulled himself down from 350 pounds to the skin and bones total of 198 pounds. (And this means that there will be a heap of splashing in the pools for the next few weeks.)

A GOLF TRAGEDY.
Coach W. A. Alexander, of Georgia Tech, was the hero of a golfing yarn on Saturday which did not come to light until Sunday. Coach Alexander almost broke his own record.

The Alexander record, which has stood for some time, is a 92 at East Lake. Saturday afternoon found Coach Alexander standing on the tee for his drive toward the 18th green and needing a five for a 90, a new Alexander record.

And when the divots had all settled and the sand was smoothed in the traps, Coach Alexander had taken a healthy 10 and the record was still there, sturdy and staunch, awaiting another assault.

THE DOGDOM SOCIAL REGISTER.
Entry lists to the Atlanta Kennel show, which the club puts on each year, will close this week. If your dog isn't entered there is still time to give him, or her, this excellent opportunity to mingle in the best dog society.

This annual event permits him or her to meet some nicest dogs in the city with a few who are prominent socially in other dogdom social circles over the nation. There are some classes for hunting dogs which should attract some of the bird dog men. And of course the owners of Wires, Schnauzers, Airedales, Scotties, Danes, Shepherds, Pekes and other well-known breeds will be there in great numbers. Th Atlanta show is sanctioned by the American Club and points won here count toward championships. It's a great show and you owe it to your dog to give him a chance.

ON THE AIR TONIGHT.
Mr. Baxter Williams, the Cracker catcher, will be on the air again tonight over station WGST on The Constitution's sport broadcast at 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. Williams' appearance last week was a huge success despite the occasional storm interference. Tonight he has two new numbers.

DON'T YOU DETEST—
The radio fan who won't get a program and keep it but who keeps up a squawk and howl as he turns from one station to another?

Amateurs Battle In Bouts Tonight
NEW YORK, March 27.—(UP)—Outstanding amateur boxers of the east and middle west will meet Monday night in the fifth of a series of inter-city matches between the New York golden glove winners and the Chicago golden glove champions at Madison Square Garden.

The series score to date stands at two victories for Chicago, one for New York and one tie. New York lost 13 out of 16 bouts last year, the worst defeat in the history of the inter-city series, and will be out to even the series count on Monday.

Toronto closed its Atlanta exhibition schedule with a 11-to-4 victory over the Commodore Feds Sunday afternoon on the prison diamond. The Toronto Leafs will leave the city Tuesday, after having completed an 18-day training period in the city. A feature of Sunday's game was two home runs by Arthur McHenry, a former Atlanta prep star who is one of the main hopes for the Toronto outfield during the coming season. The game started early, due to prison rules, and was practically completed when the hard rain started during the late afternoon.

CHICAGO CUBS DEFEAT SEALS TO END SERIES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 27.—(AP) The Chicago Cubs wound up their exhibition series with the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast league by winning, 5 to 1, today.

Bob Smith held the Seals to one run in the five innings he was on the mound but the Coast leaguers took advantage of the seven walks and two wild throws made by Mackenzie and got five runs in the two and a half innings the latter hurled. Manager Rogers Hornsby played three innings and got two hits, one a double. Score: Chicago (N. L.)... 5 100 000—5 17 2; San Fran. (P. C. L.)... 001 011 011—1 10 2.

King Miller led the Mackmen with two singles and a double for a perfect game at bat.

The basketball teams of the Alpha Class of Wesley Memorial, Dixie league champions, and Pattillo Memorial Methodist, DeKalb league winners, will meet Tuesday night on the Calvary court in the first of a three-game series for the Y-Club Athletic Association championship. The Alpha Class girls' team will meet the J. E. A. quintet at 8 p. m., with the main battle starting an hour later.

Braves To Train At St. Pete Again
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 27.—The Boston Braves will return to St. Petersburg for their spring training work in 1932, according to an announcement by Al Lang, Chamber of Commerce baseball chairman. The 1932 season will mark the eleventh year in succession in which the Braves have trained in St. Petersburg.

WALTON TO SPEAK.
Tabby Walton will be the principal speaker at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the regular weekly meeting of the South-west Sunday School Athletic Association at the Cascade Baptist church.

Ax Is To Fall On Six Crackers
Six young Crackers are slated to be trimmed off the roster sometime this week.

Club officials have been busy sending out wires in an effort to place all of them. They hope to be able to land jobs for all of them. If they fail, several good prospects will have to be released.

Red Barron and Chick Ross have wired Jack Sheehan at Columbus asking him if he can use some of the young pitchers such as Carter, Hyder, Landers and Elrod. The Crackers have not seen Sheehan any pitchers thus far. They are awaiting word from Sheehan and other points queried.

VETS RETURN.
Every regular on the 1932 University of Iowa basketball team will return for further competition next year.

Billy Howell To Lead W. & L. Against Tech
By Roy White.

It is the opening of the Jacket golf schedule, which will include many other Southern conference teams.

Tech's team will likely include Pratt Brown, Frank Ridley, George Harris Jr. and Charles Dannels Jr., as they have turned in the best scores in recent practice rounds. Other members on the Jacket squad are Tom Stanford, Ivan Allen Jr., Edward Wells and G. Parmenter. Professor H. E. Denison will be in charge of the Tech golfers.

Two New Crackers

There are several new faces with the Atlanta Crackers this year. Above one sees a couple of the club's latest acquisitions. On the left is Morris Bream, pitcher from St. Paul, who is heralded to have one of the best "sinkers" in baseball. At the right is "Duck" McKee, slugging young outfielder from Georgia Tech. McKee's home run was one of the features of Atlanta's concluding victory over Toronto Saturday. He looks like a good prospect. Pictures by George Cornett.

THE SPORT-LIGHT By Grantland Rice

The Racing Kings.
Phar Lap, the great Australian horse, which so convincingly won its first American race at Agua Caliente last week-end, challenges comparison with three American horses of the recent era.

Sun Beau, because the Kilmer harvest topped the list of money winners of the turf; Man o' War, because he was beaten only once in his racing career and remains the outstanding race developed in this country, and Gallant Fox, because the Woodward entry was the sensation of 1930, winning 9 out of 10 starts.

Although Man o' War has now dropped out of the list of the five leading money winners, stipulated by Phar Lap, Gallant Fox, Zev, of the Ranocosa stable, and Bostwick's Mate, it is interesting to contrast the complete record of the American and Australian wonder horses. While Phar Lap was an unpromising yearling, taking only a single race as a two-year-old and winning but $810 in five starts, Man o' War was a sensational juvenile, winning nine out of ten for $83,325. His only reverse was a defeat by the well-named Tiptop in the Sanford memorial of 1919 at Saratoga.

Even as a three-year-old Phar Lap gave no promise of exceeding Man o' War. Though Kildie's marvelous runner was never campaigned in later seasons, as were Sun Beau and Phar Lap, Man o' War won 11 straight races as an undefeated three-year-old, harvesting $166,140. Phar Lap's three-year-old percentage wasn't as high, 13 wins in 20 starts, but the take was $134,070. The red terror kept getting better and better, winning 14 out of 16 as a four-year-old for $123,350, and winning eight out of nine as a five-year-old last year, adding $28,800.

Gallant Fox's method of sweeping to the pinnacle in money-winning was still different. Only two out of seven two-year-old starts were victories, and only $19,800 was won, but his sensational three-year-old campaign netted $308,275.

At Cartersville week before last, Carrithers showed phenomenal stuff on a cold day. Saturday afternoon at Ponce de Leon park, a slender, wiry, left-handed youth went into the ninth inning for the Atlanta Crackers against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

Although the Leafs had been falling over Bunny Hearn and Lou Garland, two more experienced moundmen, the young southpaw did not seem to be at all rattled. He calmly struck out Hughes, the first hitter.

The next batter, McHenry, raked him for a double, and Rogell walked, but he caught McHenry at home on an attempted double steal and retired Smith, the Toronto catcher, on a fly to right.

Johnny Carrithers was the slender young man who got credit for winning the ball game.

This kinky-haired lad is apple of old Rube Marquard's eye. A couple of weeks ago, the Rube gave Johnny a good talking to and told him to cultivate seriousness. The Rube also stopped him from pitching side-arm and taught him to throw overhand, the conversion helping his control greatly and adding to his effectiveness. His curve ball has an added sharp break.

OLD CRACKERS ARE IN LINEUP OF INVADERS

Taitt, Lee, Bressler and Dudley To Perform at Park.

By Jimmy Jones.
Burt Shotton's Phillies of the National league, making their spring getaway from Florida, will be in the city today to meet the Atlanta Crackers in the latter's first exhibition game with a big league team.

The Phillies were scheduled to arrive at the Georgian Terrace at 7:15 this morning, from St. Petersburg, Fla., where they played the New York Yankees yesterday.

Their game with "Red" Barron's men will get under way at 3 p. m. at Ponce de Leon park. It will be the first to be played with the Shotton crew.

Atlanta's baseball fans, having failed to respond with any enthusiasm to attendance at the tiffs between the Crackers and Toronto Maple Leafs, probably will turn out a good crowd today.

FOUR EX-CRACKERS.
A boon to the attendance lies in the fact that there are no less than four ex-Crackers on the Philly roster. They are Douglas Taitt, Hal (Sheriff) Lee and Rube Bressler, outfielders, and Clise Dudley, pitcher.

The Phillies are not without their attractions. Although his team has been a front runner by any means, Burt Shotton has six ball players that any other major league manager would give plenty to play in the National.

Charles (Chuck) Klein, the big fence buster, heads the list. He was the fourth leading hitter last year and led the league in total bases. Pinky Whitney, third baseman; Dick Bartell, shortstop; Ray Bengs and Phil Collins, pitchers, and Virgil Davis, slugging catcher, are considered among the prize players in the National.

LES MALLON.
Then there is Les Mallon, the young second baseman, who was regarded as one of the league's prize rookies last year, batting .309 and fielding well.

Burt Shotton himself is popular in Atlanta, having visited the south often to take part in various trapeze acts. He is a crack city nelson shot.

Shotton has been trying some experiments with his club this year. He has moved Hugh Williamson, former Little Rock third baseman, to the outfield and is trying Hal Lee at third base.

Clise Dudley is expected to pitch against the Crackers. Other hurlers slated to face the club later on in the week are Jimmy Jim Elliott, Phil Collins, Ed Hulley and Bengs.

WEAK STAFF.
The Phil's weak staff has lain in their pitching staff and Shotton is seeking to make a winner of Holley, former Cub.

Manager "Red" Barron, greatly encouraged by his team's hitting against Toronto Saturday, plans to start Johnny Morris, the veteran career-baller, on the mound today, with Ralph Butler or Johnny O'Connell catching. It will be Morris's first pitching test. Wilbur Wedie will see service as relief man.

The St. Louis Cardinals with the inimitable "Pepper" Martin in the lineup, are here Friday and Saturday. Following is the remainder of the Cracker lineup.

Phillies Leave For Game Here.
WINTER HAVEN, Fla., March 27.—(AP)—Radiating confidence in their ability to give a good accounting in the 1932 campaign, the Phillies broke training camp today and headed for Atlanta and a four-game series with the Crackers of the Southern association.

Manager Burt Shotton found nothing to worry about except a few minor injuries. On the other hand, he was able to point to his team's victories over the champion Cardinals and the Athletics and Yankees in the course of the most successful exhibition game schedule in years.

S. S. A. Baseball Teams Meet Tonight
An important meeting of the Sunday School Athletic Association will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Definite plans to operate a six or eight-club amateur baseball league will be formulated or those teams already signed to compete will withdraw and the league will be disbanded.

Max Will Train On Saratoga Lake
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., March 27.—(AP)—Max Schmeling will train on Saratoga lake for his heavyweight boxing championship fight with Jack Sharkey, the champion's manager, Joe Jacobs, said here today.

Jack Dempsey trained here three times for important battles. Jacobs said that while no agreement had been signed, he was sure Schmeling would come here to train. The fight will be on June 16. The champion sails from Germany on Thursday.

Three Places Left In Church League
Only three more teams can be placed in the league sponsored by the Y-Club A. A. which meets tonight at the Y. M. C. A., as 27 clubs are now members of the leagues that will be operated. The Fulton and Piedmont leagues are completed and are ready for the opening games, which will be played Saturday, April 9.

Bob To Attend Opening Games
Bobby Jones, the king of golfers, is preparing to attend both opening day games of the Atlanta Crackers and Jack Sheehan's Columbus club of the Southeastern league, with which Atlanta has a working agreement this year.

Jones has promised Chip Robert, president of the Crackers, that he will make his plans to attend both games if possible. Atlanta opens here against Nashville April 14 and Columbus opens here on April 19.

Jones, Robert and other Crackers officials very likely will be guests of T. E. Reeves and George Woodruff in Columbus on the occasion of that city's "opener."

WOMEN GOLFERS BATTLE TODAY IN NORTH-SOUTH

Miss Maddox, Mrs. Keeler Enter Event at Pinehurst.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 27.—(AP)—Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, western champion, and Maureen O'Connell, of Englewood, N. J., Canadian champion, were favorites tonight to pace the field tomorrow in qualifying play for the women's north and south golf tournament.

Both have been playing near the top of their games and the tournament committee is expected to put them in opposite brackets so they possibly will meet in the finals. Match play starts Tuesday.

Approximately 70 golfers have entered, but several of the prominent stars who usually play in this event are missing.

Bernice Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., and Margaret Maddox, the Georgia state champion, loomed as likely dark horses.

The other entrants included Mrs. Ashby Taylor and Mrs. O. B. Keeler, both of Atlanta.

Dog Fight Play Is Postponed.

A heavy rain and slight hailstorm late Sunday afternoon halted the regular "dog fight" novelty tournament scheduled for the East Lake Country Club course No. 2.

More than a dozen players had entered and were on the course when the rain caused the scores to be unusually high and many of the players failed to complete the 18 holes.

It was announced that those entered will be included in the list next Sunday afternoon.

J. Coleman Wins Piedmont Prize.

J. Coleman, with a 73, won first honor Sunday in a two-day ball sweepstakes tournament on the Piedmont park municipal course, sponsored by the Piedmont Park Golfers' Association. Second prize was won by S. P. Booth with a 74, while Lee Strauss won third honor. Coleman and Booth also won first and second place in the net scores, while Strauss' gross was several strokes higher, but with the aid of handicap strokes he finished third.

Billy Wilson and H. O. Davis, club professionals, were in charge of the event and announced Sunday that another of the monthly two-day dinner tournaments will be played Saturday and Sunday.

fect health. To her competitive instinct is second nature; she is imbued with an abundance of nervous energy.

FIVE FOOT, TWO.

Scaling five foot two, with eyes of brown, not blue, Miss Robert has powerful shoulders and equally strong legs. They are important factors in the backstroke and daily training has developed them for the part.

It would not do to overlook Mrs. Robert, for she arises with the chickens in order to assist Louise in her training. She often swims along with her daughter, using the old side stroke. Louise's father, Chip, is president of the Atlanta baseball club.

A family of sportsmen and sports-women to be sure.

The Olympics and the crown of Eleanor Holm, world backstroke champion, are the dual goals of Miss Robert. Competition in the tryouts at New York will be of the keenest sort and she is going to train ardently in an effort to qualify.

SWEEPING LIGHT IS DERBY HOPE OF VANDERBILT

Big Brown Colt by Man-na Is Rated at 25 to 1.

By Thomas H. Noone.

United Press Racing Editor. NEW YORK, March 27.—(UP)—Sweeping Light, a big brown colt by Man-na out of Sweeping Glance, is the chief hope of Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Fair stable for the Kentucky Derby. Tom Shaw, one of the shrewdest and most critical appraisers of thoroughbreds, quotes him at 25 to 1 in the winter books.

While Sweeping Light won few important juvenile stakes last year, he proved his gameness on more than one occasion. He ran a smashing race to finish second to Tick On in the Hopeful stakes at Saratoga, then a week later won the Champagne stakes at Belmont Park. He was practically left at the post in the junior champion at Aqueduct, but finished fast in the stretch and his effort in this event brought much favorable comment.

That a capable rider will handle this colt is certain, since both Frank Colletti and Laverne Fator rode him in his stake engagements as a juvenile, and there are always a host of boys willing to ride a horse with a real chance of victory.

That Sweeping Light, which now weighs about 1,000 pounds and is 16 hands high, has more than an outside chance is manifest by the odds quoted against him.

Judge Renders Mat Verdict Today

A decision by Judge Virlyn B. Moore this afternoon will determine whether Henry Weber, for three years promoter of wrestling in Atlanta, shall go ahead with his scheduled matches for Tuesday night at the auditorium or whether Eddie Hanlon, city policeman and former boxing promoter, shall be allowed to begin promotion on that date.

Weber, whose dates were sanctioned by the boxing commission, is seeking a court decision.

Weber's card offers Frank Speer and Jack O'Dell in the main event with George Tragos and Father Lumpkin in the semi-windup. Hanlon offers four wrestlers who have never appeared in Atlanta. Jack Sherry and John Grandovich are in the main event with Len Macaluso and Eddie Elzea in the semi-windup.

Last year, the trafficking in Southern league ivory was very quiet. Only a few clubs sent any players to the big leagues and there were few outstanding rookies, unless it were the one who was picked up right off the campus of Georgia Tech and the University, respectively. The Crackers may never regret picking them up.

"It is a sad case for a minor league club when it cannot dispose of at least one young prodigy to faster pastime. That's the best way to pull out of the red."

Atlanta, although unsuccessful with pennants, has seen few seasons pass without making at least one sale to big time. In 1929, it was Bob Farham, sold to Brooklyn; in 1930, Luke Appling went to the White Sox for a big price, and last year Paul Gregory, pitcher, was sold to the White Sox.

Incidentally, all three of these players were ex-colleagues—Farham from Tech, Appling from Oglethorpe and Gregory from Milledgeville.

Both McKee and Carrithers are collegians. So it seems that it pays to string along with the rah, rah boys after all.

Jack Doyle evidently thinks so, for the Cub ivory hunter went to Clemson, S. C., Saturday to look over Catfish Smith, Buster Mott and other of the Georgia Bulldogs of Bill White.

The Georgia has gone just plain talkie, and is giving Atlantans an excellent no-vaudeville bill. The bill is to change twice a week, but "Taxi" seems to be worth showing for an entire week. The picture is different. It is full of unexpected quirks and twists which keep the interest sustained throughout.

James Cagney, an independent taxi driver who engages in a taxi war between the consolidated interests and his own group, a love war, personal wars and just any kind of a scrap he can find, is a very personable young man. He is brought to us in another one of those hard-boiled, treat-the-frail-rough hero roles but he makes a charming hero. His spot in "Taxi" is one of the best he has ever done, and he is supported by that delectable Loretta Young.

You'll like this picture and the rest of the bill, which includes rare shots of the southern storm from the newsreel, a clever popular fiction short subject and the ever-popular animated cartoon.

Ruth Roland, Tarzan Share Honors at Fox

Time has been kind to Ruth Roland, queen of the serial movies in the days of the silent blood-and-thunder melodramas.

There was an age in this reviewer's life that the writer skipped classes in school to keep up with the latest Rolands. What youth of that day didn't? Something of the old thrill came back Saturday night when Ruth, as fresh as ever and chipper as a cat, in spite of many years of screen work, put on her act at the Fox theater.

There, in flesh and blood, was the screen heroine who once made our blood run cold as the mysterious horror threat to snuff out her young life. Her act is as different from those days as black is from white.

Ruth sings well, and she dances as if all care had been banished forever. She is ably supported by the Lamont family, the funny member of which is "Sonny," and several other excellent acts. Frances Leide, God's gift to musical Atlanta, turns comedian with the help of Miss Roland.

Tarzan, the ape man, comes to life in the little person of Johnny Weissmuller, who can swim faster than your reviewer can run. Tarzan leaps through the upper corridors of the jungle with as much ease as you sit down to your dinner, and he beats the swift crocodiles at their own speed game. Maureen O'Sullivan is wooed by the ape man with a technique that many young swains might well copy. Neil Hamilton and C. Aubrey Smith have prominent roles.

Franchon and Marco's "Cozy Corner" idea, adapted especially for Miss Roland, features Rector and Doreen and the Three Jaxys in addition to Alice and Sonny Lamont and company. Al Evans, the smiling organist from "Dear Old Lithuania," comes across in a big way, and Baton Wilder Leide and his boys give the foot tappers something to work with in the stage show, after opening the performance with a tasteful Easter motif.

Reviewing the Shows

Paramount Reopener Called Work of Genius

Four of anybody's stars are not enough to bestow in rating "One Hour With You," the feature picture of the first week of the reopening of the Paramount theater, with Maurice Chevalier and Jeanette MacDonald singing, laughing, quipping and loving through many feet of film.

Seldom does a picture reach the extremities of pleasurable entertainment offered in this latest Chevalier-MacDonald film. Naughty, yet inoffensive, risqué and sophisticated, the movie reveals the true genius of Ernst Lubitsch, the director, perhaps better than any of his work. The plot, if not new, is certainly unusual, and the waltzes of the director, who has long been noted for his foxy humor, are displayed to full advantage.

The movie patron need not think that here is another ordinary singing picture. True, Miss MacDonald and Chevalier sing—and they inject a bit of rhyme in speaking their lines, but all is pleasing. Then, when you begin to wonder concerning the ethics of the plot, Chevalier will step forward in close-up to explain his doubtful philosophy and his embarrassment to you, man to man, man to woman. Miss MacDonald also talks with you a bit.

The story involves a young couple, Chevalier and Miss MacDonald, very much in love, who find alternating ecstasy, doubt and torture in the average with comedians, singers, gymnasts and a rhumba band breezing through five acts. An air of utter informality gives the show merit beyond ordinary expectations.

Conductor Kornspan offers the finest overture heard in an Atlanta movie house in years with his arrangement of "American Fantasy."

Tarkington 'Kid Film' Delights Rialto Fans

The kids are in command this week at the Rialto theater, where "Penrod and Sam," from Booth Tarkington's famous novel, is being shown. And how the youngsters do voice their approval of the film. It is splendid entertainment for adults, in whose minds the nostalgia for childhood seems linger.

The cast, consisting of Leon Janney, Junior Coghlan, Matt Moore and Dorothy Peterson in the leading roles, seems to enter into the spirit of the story and, as a result, the scenes ring true. Poignantly reminiscent to the adult audience is the old woeed where punishment is meted out to the erring Penrod.

Junior Coghlan, as Penrod, reminds one of Jackie Cooper as the never-to-be-forgotten "Skippy," but Coghlan lacks much of Cooper's finished playing of the part. However, it does not detract from Coghlan's portrayal. For the lad is very earnest in his effort to please; then, too, there is only one Cooper.

The program is completed by a comedy, a news reel, animated comedy and other short subjects.

Georgia All-Film Bill Proves Entertaining

The Georgia theater, starting off under a new regime, with Earle M. Holden as manager, is still maintaining its high standard in feature films.

Here tribute was paid to the late Francis Williams, who started his services 11 years ago and who died a few months ago. Howard W. Williams, a brother, was song leader. An organ and cornet played accompaniment.

Dr. E. M. Poteat, professor of Christianity and theology at Mercer University, was the principal speaker.

Mysterious South Georgia Lake Vanishes Second Time This Year

BY HANSELL BAKER.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., March 27.—For the second time this calendar year the waters of big Lake Jackson, between here and Tallahassee, and across the Florida state line, have suddenly run out through a subterranean channel and left the lake bottom dry save for three insignificant pools. Early last January Lake Jackson ran out, and then in a few weeks it came back again in about as fast time as it went away and its water, augmented by a number of heavy rains, has remained normally full until a few days ago when the impulse to go out a second time developed.

Jackson is one of three sister water lakes of the region, each of them approximately 10 miles long and about two to four miles in width. All of them have the habit of suddenly disappearing through underground channels at irregular intervals every few years, but Jackson is the only one of the three to go out recently, though both Lake Miccosukee and Lake Lanoka, the other two of some 10 miles and empties into the Gulf of Mexico. There are a number of smaller lakes and "sink holes" on the Georgia side of the state line that run out as quickly and as unannounced as the three large lakes.

Wakulla spring, 186 feet deep, and so clear a penny dropped in it can be seen when it reposes on the spring bottom, is claimed to be the largest single fresh water spring in the world. It gushes from under huge boulders on the bottom of an immense and mysterious cavern at the rate of more than 50,000 gallons per minute and from its waters is formed the Wakulla river, a broad stream that flows thence some 10 miles and empties into the Gulf of Mexico. ## MRS. I. G. FREEMAN STAKES BY DEATH

Sister-in-Law of Judge
Candler Was Widely Known Here.

Mrs. Isidore Freeman, sister-in-law of Judge John S. Candler and wife of the late Robert M. Freeman, died shortly before midnight Sunday at the Emory University hospital. She had been ill for several weeks but her death came as a shock to her relatives and friends. She was carried to the hospital Wednesday.

Funeral services will be held at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist church, will officiate. The body will be taken Monday night to Jacksonville, Fla., for interment in the family cemetery beside her husband.

Mrs. Freeman, who was a native of Jacksonville, came to Atlanta in 1903 with her husband. She was widely known in social circles and made her home at 796 Peachtree street. She was a member of the First Baptist church.

The daughter of the late Isidore Vincent Gamie and Mary Sutton, of Jacksonville, Mrs. Freeman was a member of a prominent Florida family. Her sister, Marguerite Louise Gamie, was the late Mrs. John S. Candler.

SELF-STARVATION BRINGS $10 OFFER TO DYING SCHOLAR

WASHINGTON, March 27.—(UP)—Dr. Frederic Wolter, 57-year-old German-born scholar and agnostic, who is starving himself to death as a protest against unemployment conditions, is being paid $10 a week to read the Bible five hours a day.

The offer came from a religious worker after Wolter had paid his last $225 for room rent in a Salvation Army hotel here. Dressed in a cheap, black striped suit, wearing no shirt and with a clean hand-towel wrapped around his neck, he slowly descended the stairs late in the afternoon and took a seat in the lounge room.

I came down to listen to the symphony orchestra on the radio," he explained. "Soon after 11 o'clock I cannot come down the stairs many more times. In a day or so, I must stay in bed and await the end."

He crossed his legs and glanced down at the ragged straw slippers he wore. The radio speaker droned on. Suddenly these words filled the room: "... and so until death."

TRUST FIRM CITES CAPITOL 'MENACE'

NEW YORK, March 27.—(AP)—While some improvement is noted by the Guaranty Trust Co. in its quarterly review of business and finance it asserts that a deteriorating influence stands in the way of more rapid improvement in "proposed legislation at Washington."

The review says that "radical and unsound proposals in tax legislation and in the field of possible drastic revision of the federal reserve act affecting the banking situation, have presented somewhat alarming aspects, which have created widespread apprehension and hesitation. While it is, of course, possible and perhaps probable that the eventual legislation in these fields may not be as harmful as the original proposals in their present state, they carry a menace that cannot be ignored."

"Of particular concern are the efforts of banking reformers, as reflected in the Glass bill, to amend the federal reserve act, which would undoubtedly force further deflation, impose policy control upon the federal reserve banks, discriminate against collateral loans and 15-day borrowings, hamper the treasury department in financing its great requirements, place serious restrictions upon the distribution of securities and hence upon any financing of large-scale business enterprise, necessitate the liquidation of member banks against time deposits, and compel the banks to write down their real estate assets and loans to present low market values."

"There are other objectionable provisions in the proposed bill that would further disturb the banking situation, such as the proposed spread withdrawals from both the national banking and federal reserve systems. Even admitting that some reform in the federal reserve act might be made, bankers are unanimous in their opposition to such legislation at the present time, as merely adding disturbing factors to a sensitive situation that needs time for recovery."

"The attempt of the radicals in congress to impose the added burdens of taxation upon the rich and to prevent the widening of the basis of taxation has been disturbing to business interests generally, although it is obviously political and not economic, in its inception."

"Congress now faces a harvest of the seeds of extravagance that it has long sown and is obviously bewildered in attempting to balance the national budget against the excess expenditures congress has imposed upon it. The threat of further burden upon the treasury in the proposed amendments to existing legislation, coming at a time when the treasury is staggering under its existing load, still further increases apprehension and unrest on the part of business generally."

"Until these situations are cleared up and the business and banking interests know what they face, there is certain to be further hesitation in economic recovery."

The report also showed net income after all charges of $20,230,644, as previously reported, equivalent to $14.30 a share on its common stock against $20,597,073 the year before, or $21.97 a share.

GOODRICH DEALERS MEET HERE TODAY

250 Representatives in This District To Hear
P. J. Kelly Speak.

More than 250 B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company tire dealers within a radius of 200 miles of Atlanta will attend a merchandising conference in the Atlanta-Biltmore hotel today.

They will be welcomed by Henry B. Thackston, southeastern district sales manager, at the morning session.

Piedmont Lodge No. 447, F. and A. M., of which Mr. Smith was a member before moving to Washington six years ago, will have charge of the services at the graveside. Pallbearers will be Sinclair Jacobs, Dr. Thad Morrison, John G. Burkhardt, Albert Dunn, F. G. Lombard and C. W. Dunn.

For more than 25 years Mr. Smith was manager of all the Jacobs drug stores in Atlanta. He was native of Greenville, S. C., and came to Atlanta as a young man to enter business. He was active in civic and business affairs here and was widely known in fraternal and church circles in which his interests lay. He retired from his position with Jacobs 10 years ago and went into business for himself, four years later moving to Washington. At the time of his death he was a manufacturers' agent.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. E. L. Huffman, of Washington, and Mrs. W. S. Mays, of Bronxville, N. Y.; three sons, W. C. McLendon, Mrs. Lucille Huffman and Mrs. Gladys Humphreys, all of Atlanta, and his brother, Mack Smith, of the Philippine Islands.

PHILIP J. KELLY.

Philip J. Kelly, assistant general sales manager of the Goodrich Company in Akron, will emphasize the necessity of product development and advertising policies.

H. W. Delzell, technical engineer, also of Akron, will discuss tire construction, development and comparison, and Guy Gundaker Jr., sales promotion manager, Akron, will outline the Goodrich merchandising and advertising policies.

The entire afternoon program will be devoted to a three-act dramatized sales presentation, the cast composed of Goodrich representatives. The group just returned from a coast-to-coast trip, presenting the play before several thousand salesmen, and now are making similar tours appearing before dealer groups.

The play depicts the reasons of tire failure, the obstacles, an intricate plan of circumventing the short-comings and means of efficient and profitable merchandising. The play has been accorded much praise by merchandising leaders throughout the country and received much favorable comment in the daily press.

"With product quality far above that of any previous tire, and with prices considerably lower than in recent years, the buying public now receives real value for its money when purchasing nationally known merchandise," Kelly said here Sunday.

Summing up his observations on a national sales survey just completed, Kelly stated that general business conditions appear improved and that only the industries and retailers who have not adjusted themselves into present-day conditions continue to suffer severely.

"Our new Safety Silvertown line alone has shown a 25 per cent increase in recent months—particularly pleasant for a first line product in these times of price competition. This increase, with the immediate acceptance of our colored side-wall tires and low-pressure or super-cushion tires for smaller cars presents a pleasing outlook for the industry this year."

"It is true that industry and in many cases, hard hit," Kelly said. "Those who have cleaned house and launched new campaigns with better vigor and aggressiveness are beginning to see light. One of the outstanding factors in business—and experience bears this statement out—is product inventiveness."

The Goodrich company has developed many new products in the last several months and will display them at the conference here, including new Safety Silvertown tires, low-pressure tires, colored side-wall tires for large cars, new type tires for industrial trucks, air-tight tires for tractors and puncture-resisting inner tubes for passenger cars and trucks, together with the many mechanical rubber innovations for automobiles.

Kelly, who also is vice president of the Association of National Advertisers, spoke of new trends in national advertising programs.

"Large advertisers are using more direct selling copy and less institutional copy this year. Of necessity they must use direct selling mediums and as a result daily newspapers will come in as primary advertising mediums greater than ever before," Kelly said.

CURB LIST DEVELOPS FLABBY APPEARANCE

NEW YORK, March 27.—The curb market has had a flabby appearance in recent sessions. Trading was generally characterized by dullness during the day.

Announcement of higher oil prices, followed by a strengthening in gas-oil quotations, inspired the petroleum market to temporary firmness. Gas oil was particularly responsive, but interest in most of the others lagged as soon as the brief flurry of buying had spent itself.

Selling in the utilities, some brokers point out, reflects the unfavorable comparison which electric power output is making with a year ago and also the imminence of some loan maturities. Earnings statements in most cases are showing the effects of business depression.

Wall Street Briefs.

NEW YORK, March 27.—The factors having a great deal to do with Wall Street's depressed spirits at the week-end was the heavy selling of American Telephone & Telegraph, which forced the price of investment funds down to within a few points of its 1932 low. As is usual when the stock is under pressure, there was a corresponding decline in the price of the $30 dividend rate. The next meeting of directors for dividend action will be held around May 15.

Yongtown reports say that the Republic Steel Corporation will resume operations at its Warren, Ohio, plant in the coming week after a one-week shutdown. It is said that the Sharon Steel Hoop Company and Trucon Steel Company will continue operations at 55 per cent of respective capacities.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR CHARLES A. SMITH

Dr. Ryland Knight, pastor of the Second Baptist church, will conduct funeral services for Charles A. Smith, widely known drug company official and former Atlantan who died Saturday at his home in Washington, D. C., of a paralytic stroke. Rites will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Spring Hill chapel of H. M.
Patterson & Son, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Yo-Yo Tournament Prizes Will Be Announced Tuesday

The spinner, the creeper, walking the dog, the breakaway, loop-the-loop, three-leaf clover, figure eight—these are the tricks that will decide just who is entitled to be known as Atlanta's champion yo-yoist.

The Atlanta Constitution wants to make sure that all the boys and girls of Atlanta really understand just how each of the above tricks is accomplished, so Ambly Subit world's champion yo-yo expert, was called into conference. Ambly has taught thousands and thousands from coast to coast, and after watching Ambly flip a yo-yo the onlooker is convinced that Ambly knows his stuff.

So take your yo-yo in hand and follow Ambly's instructions.

First, the spinner: This trick is accomplished by throwing the yo-yo straight down and allowing it to spin at the end of the string a moment before returning to your hand. This trick must be learned before attempting others as it is the fundamental of most of the tricks.

Walking the dog: Walking the dog is made by throwing the spinner, and while the top is spinning at the end of the string allow it to walk along the floor a short distance before returning to your hand.

The creeper: This is made by throwing the spinner and while the top is spinning at the end of the string allow it to walk along the floor away from you to the end of the string, then lower hand to the floor while the top is dancing, and with a slight kick backward return top to your hand along the floor.

The breakaway is done by casting the top directly away from your right shoulder with a downward motion making a half circle with your right hand toward your left shoulder, thus making the top complete a half-circle around the world in the same manner as in the breakaway.

Loop-the-loop is made by casting the top directly in front of you and instead of catching it on the return the top is shot out into the air again before catching.

Three-leaf clover consists of two loops inside your arm and one loop outside before catching the yo-yo. Figure eight consists of a loop inside your arm and a loop outside your arm done with a continuous motion making each loop as wide as possible on a single figure eight in a horizontal position.

Ambly says everywhere he goes the question arises as to whether or not it is permissible to use the Karr light spring in the rebuilding of yo-yos to the string.

By all means, yes, he says. This is what the professionals do.

er exercise the depressing force that it did previous to last winter. We do not hesitate to express the opinion that constructive factors now have more influence on the situation than the unfavorable ones.

TARZAN AND THE ANT MEN No. 55

The more Tarzan saw of this dome as he was led through its corridors, the more amazed he became. When he thought of the tremendous proportions such a dome must have to house thousands of men his own size, his mind was absolutely staggered. It must be at least four hundred forty feet high, and it seemed beyond belief that any race existed capable of accomplishing such a feat. Poor Tarzan! Little did he realize the astounding change these Minutians had wrought upon him!
